Sheppard has earned a reputation as one of the league's most innovative and creative executives. In 16 years in the Wizards' front office, his role included responsibilities with salary cap management, negotiations, draft preparation and talent evaluation of collegiate athletes and professionals, both domestically and abroad. Sheppard also served an assisting role in the recruitment and evaluation of free agents, statistical evaluation of NBA players, the hiring of coaches and personnel and monitoring the Wizards' efforts in the NBA's Player Programs. During his tenure with the team, he has been tasked with organizing the Wizards' training camp and preseason schedules; overseeing the athletic training, strength training, video, technology and equipment areas for the team; and directing in-arena renovations to areas including the Wizards' locker room, players' lounge, family lounge and front offices.

Currently an adjunct professor at Georgetown University for the Sports Industry Management Program, Sheppard graduated from New Mexico State University in 1991, where he was a three-year member of the Aggie football team. SCOTT BROOKS

Head Coach

Scott Brooks has led the Wizards for the past three seasons after being named as head coach on April 26, 2016. Brooks has an overall record of 462-329 (.584) during his decade on the sidelines, ranking him sixth among active coaches in win percentage and eighth among active coaches in total wins.

In his third season as Wizards Head Coach, Brooks' continued record of developing players was recognized. Bradley Beal established himself as a top guard in the league posting career highs in points, rebounds and assists, while earning his second NBA All-Star nod, and Thomas Bryant flourished in his second year of play shooting .616 from the field, making him the franchise leader in field goal percentage. Brooks reached his 100th win as the Wizards head coach vs. the Houston Rockets on November 26, 2018, and the 2018-19 season marked only the second time in his head coaching career that his team finished with a win/loss record below .500.

Brooks led the Wizards to a 43-39 mark during the 2017-18 season, keeping the team in the playoff picture despite John Wall missing 41 games. His stellar track record of player development continued to pay dividends, as Tomas Satoransky and Kelly Oubre Jr. both stepped up with career seasons while Bradley Beal's game blossomed (earning his first All-Star nod) and Otto Porter Jr. made steady improvements. Brooks was able to combine their contributions with improved play from the entire team during Wall's absence, culminating in him being named Eastern Conference Coach of the Month in February after leading the Wizards to an 8-4 record. It was the fifth Coach of the Month honor of Brooks' career (and second with the Wizards).

In his first season at the helm, Brooks led the Wizards to a 49-33 record and a Southeast Division title, Washington's first division title in 38 years. The 49 wins were the most since the 1978-79 campaign when the Bullets finished 54-28. Brooks, who incorporated nine new players that were not on the roster the previous season, coached his team to the highest win total in NBA history for a team that started 2-8 or worse and led the Wizards to a 17-game home winning streak (the second-longest in franchise history). With him on the sideline, Washington rallied from 17 double-digit deficits to win in 2016-17, the most in team history in the last 20 years. Brooks also made player development a priority, even among his best players. Wall appeared in his fourth straight All-Star game and averaged career highs in scoring, assists, field goal percentage and steals while Beal averaged career highs in scoring, assists, field goal percentage and games played and Porter Jr. averaged career highs in almost every statistical category.

Brooks is the 24th head coach in franchise history and brings a wealth of NBA coaching experience to the organization. Brooks was the head coach of the Oklahoma City Thunder from 2008-09 through 2014-15 where he amassed a 338-207 (.620) record, tallied four 50-plus win seasons (including 60 wins in 2012-13), made three appearances in the Western Conference Finals (2011, 2012, 2014) and advanced to the 2012 NBA Finals. He was named the Red Auerbach NBA Coach of the Year in 2010.

During his tenure with the Thunder, Brooks led Oklahoma City to five straight postseason appearances and four consecutive Northwest Division titles. From 2009-10 through 2014-15, he was the second- winningest active coach in the NBA, as the Thunder claimed 316 victories during this span.

Brooks guided the Thunder to a 45-win season during an injury-plagued 2014-15 campaign that saw Kevin Durant, Serge Ibaka and Russell Westbrook all miss extended stretches. After starting 3-12, the Thunder finished the season going 42-25 and in doing so, Oklahoma City became just the fourth team in NBA history to go from nine games below .500 at one point in the season, to nine games above .500 later in the season.

In the 2013-14 season, the Thunder finished with the second best record in the NBA at 59-23 and Oklahoma City became one of just two teams (San Antonio) to record a .610-or-better winning percentage (equivalent to 50 wins) in each of the five prior seasons. After posting the top record in the Western Conference through the first half of the 2013-14 season, Brooks represented the Thunder by coaching the 2014 Western Conference All-Stars in New Orleans. The All-Star coaching honor marked the second of Brooks' career (Brooks and his staff also coached the 2012 All-Star Game in Orlando).

During the 2012-13 season, the Thunder claimed the top spot in the Western Conference after finishing with a record of 60-22. On the year, Oklahoma City posted the largest point differential in the NBA in more than five seasons (9.2 points per game). Oklahoma City won 44 games by double figures, including 19 games of 20- or more (both tops in the NBA). The Thunder finished the season as the third highest scoring team in the NBA (105.7 points per game) while holding the opposition to the second worst field goal shooting percentage (.425).

REP THE DISTRICT

At the end of the 2012-13 season, the Thunder became just the second team in NBA history to increase its winning percentage for five consecutive seasons (while maintaining a winning percentage of .700-or- better in two seasons).

During the 2011-12 season, Brooks guided the Thunder to a Western Conference championship and the NBA Finals after finishing the regular season with a record of 47-19. In the playoffs, the Thunder defeated Dallas, the Los Angeles Lakers and San Antonio before falling to the eventual champions Miami in five games.

In 2010-11 Brooks led the Thunder to 55 wins and a spot in the Western Conference Finals after Oklahoma City captured playoff series victories over the Denver Nuggets and Memphis Grizzlies. After the late-season acquisition of Kendrick Perkins from the Boston Celtics in mid-March, Brooks guided the Thunder to a 13-4 mark in the final 17 games of the regular season.

Brooks received the 2009-10 Red Auerbach NBA Coach of the Year award after his second season as head coach in Oklahoma City. During his first full year at the helm of the Thunder, Brooks oversaw one of the biggest turnarounds in NBA history. A year after winning 23 games, the Thunder concluded the 2009-10 season with a record of 50-32 (.610). The 27-win improvement was tied for the eighth largest in NBA history. Brooks was named interim head coach of the Thunder 13 games into the 2008-09 season and was later named head coach on April 15, 2009 prior to the team's final game of the season. In 2000, Brooks was a player/assistant coach with the Los Angeles Stars of the ABA. The following season, he served as the head coach of the Southern California Surf of the ABA, guiding the club to a 23-14 record. A native of Lathrop, California, Brooks began his collegiate career at Texas Christian University, where he played one season. He then transferred to San Joaquin Delta College for his sophomore season, before spending his final two years at UC Irvine, where he averaged 23.8 points per game as a senior.

ROD THORN Senior Advisor to the General Manager

Rod Thorn begins his first season as senior advisor to the general manager and brings over 40 years of front office experience. In this role, Thorn will consult with Wizards General Manager Tommy Sheppard on decisions, including personnel, free agency and the draft. The former Baltimore Bullet was originally drafted by the franchise with the second overall pick in 1963 NBA Draft and enjoyed a nine-year playing career.

An NBA veteran of more than four decades, Thorn was named the president of the Philadelphia 76ers on August 12, 2010. He spent the past 10 seasons as president of the New Jersey Nets before resigning on July 15, 2010.

Thorn, the 2001-02 NBA Executive of the Year, joined the Nets on June 27, 2000. During his tenure in East Rutherford, the Nets captured four Atlantic Division titles in a five-season span, including back-to-back Eastern Conference Championships in 2002 and 2003.

Back in June of 2001, Thorn engineered two major deals which helped catapult New Jersey into the league's upper echelon. He traded the rights to Eddie Griffin, the seventh overall pick in the 2001 NBA Draft to the Houston Rockets in exchange for their three first round picks from that same draft, Richard Jefferson, Jason Collins and Brandon Armstrong. The next day, Thorn negotiated a blockbuster six-player trade with Phoenix that landed New Jersey three-time First Team All-NBA guard Jason Kidd in exchange for Stephon Marbury.

Prior to joining the Nets, Thorn spent 14 years working for the NBA league office in Manhattan, where he was the NBA's executive vice president of basketball operations. At the league office, Thorn oversaw all on-court operations, including officiating, game conduct and discipline.

Thorn also served as chair of the Senior Men's Basketball Committee for USA Basketball from 1992 through 2000. He was also a member of the select NBA Rules Committee which formed in March of 2001 and was chaired by Jerry Colangelo, CEO of the Phoenix Suns. That committee advised the NBA's Board of Governors on changes in the league's playing rules including the elimination of illegal defense guidelines, the institution of a new defensive three-second rule, eight seconds instead of 10 to advance the ball past midcourt and the elimination of incidental contact if it does not impede the progress of the player with the ball.

In 1978, Thorn began a seven-year stint as general manager of the Chicago Bulls, which included drafting Michael Jordan in 1984. During his tenure with Chicago, Thorn was also the interim head coach for 30 games in 1982.

Thorn was the second overall pick in the 1963 NBA Draft by the Baltimore Bullets. After one season in Baltimore, he spent a season and a half in both Detroit and St. Louis before finishing his career in Seattle. In 466 career games played, Thorn averaged 10.8 points, 3.1 rebounds and 2.6 assists.

Following the conclusion of his NBA playing career in 1970-71, Thorn joined Lenny Wilkens' coaching staff in Seattle. In 1973-74, he was an assistant coach for the ABA Nets and helped lead Julius Erving and company to their first-ever ABA Championship. Two years later, he became head coach of the ABA's Spirits of St. Louis. In 1976, Thorn was named an assistant coach with the Nets when they moved into the NBA.

A graduate of the University of Washington with a B.A. in political science, Thorn also holds an honorary degree from West Virginia University and served on the school's Board of Directors for five years. REP THE DISTRICT

Walk left, stand right. We got places to be - and not, it's not always about the job. Soul food, half-smokes, and Mambo sauce. The best place to eat? It's probably on wheels. A native? Born and bred - for generations. My Ward isn't just a number. It's a place that's so much more than TV dramas and politics. Go-Go isn't new, but we're glad you've discovered it. Taxation without representation? Yeah - don't tell us we're not a state. We're at the center of power and history, but we're more than an 8th grade civics trip. Celebrate what DC is all about. Rep the district.

PLEASE GOD, GIVE US THE COURAGE NOT TO LOOK AWAY.

CAPITAL ONE ARENA is a 20,000-seat multi-purpose sports and entertainment venue, owned and operated by Monumental Sports & Entertainment, in the Penn Quarter neighborhood of Chinatown in downtown Washington, D.C. The arena is home to the NBA's Washington Wizards, the NHL's Washington Capitals, the WNBA's Washington Mystics, AFL's Washington Valor and the NCAA's Georgetown Hoyas men's basketball team.

Boasting an average of 220 events per year, Captial One Arean is the heart of an $8.5 billion redevelopment that began 17 years ago when the arena was built and opened on Dec. 2, 1997. Since then the privately financed arena has hosted 43.6 million people and more than 3,631 events.

The surrounding neighborhood throughout the years has been rejuvenated by a plethora of restaurants, condominiums and businesses, making the Seventh Street corridor an entertainment destination.

In June 2010, Ted Leonsis became the majority owner of Capital One Arena and formed Monumental Sports & Entertainment (MSE). MSE includes ownership of the NBA's Washington Wizards, the NHL's Washington Capitals, AFL's Washington Mystics and Baltimore Brigade, the WNBA's Washington Mystics and Verizon Center. Monumental Sports & Entertainment also manages Kettler Capitals Iceplex, the training facility for the Washington Capitals, and EagleBank Arena at George Mason University. In January 2013, MSE launched Monumental Network, a digital platform that serves as the hub for the region's sports and entertainment news.

As an arena in the heart of downtown Washington, D.C., Capital One Arena has hosted a multitude of high-profile events in its history, ranging from the 1998 Stanley Cup Final to the NBA (2001) and WNBA (2002, 2007) All-Star games to the 2003 World Figure Skating Championship, the 2005 ACC Tournament, the first and second rounds of the NCAA Division I men's basketball tournament (1998, 2002, 2008) as well as the second and third rounds (2011), the East Regional Round (2006, 2013) and the 2009 NCAA Frozen Four men's hockey championship. In 2016 the arena will host the ACC Tournament for the second time. In 2017 the arena will host the Big Ten Tournament for the first time and in 2018 the A10 Tournament for the first time.

Entertainment at the arena would not be complete without concerts and family shows ranging from all-time greats to current-day chart-topping artists. In the almost 18 year history of the arena some of the artists who have roamed the halls and mastered the stage at Verizon Center include: U2, Lady Gaga, Madonna, Coldplay, The Three Tenors, Barbra Streisand, Bon Jovi, Prince, Tim McGraw & Faith Hill, Beyonce, the Dalai Lama, Tina Turner, Keith Urban, Paul Simon and Sting, Taylor Swift, Usher, Disney on Ice and WWE.

In terms of history, only two events have taken place each year at Capital One Arena since it opened, as well as each of the past 40+ years dating back to the old Capital Centre arena making them the longest tenured events between both buildings: the Harlem Globetrotters (1973) and the Washington International Horse Show (1975).

Located within the arena are 106 luxury suites, eight loge boxes, a high-definition center-hung scoreboard, an indoor basketball practice facility and nine dressing rooms. The arena offers a variety of concession stands and restaurants with menu choices ranging from pizza at Papa John's to donuts at Dunkin Donuts. Additional arena fare includes hot dogs, crab cakes, chicken fingers and deli sandwiches. Vegetarian, vegan and gluten-free options are also available.

Other amenities in the arena include the private Owner's Club, the private Acela Club restaurant for club members, Maryland Live! Casino Player's Club, Budweiser Brew House, Etihad Airways Lounge, Draft Ops Fantasy Lounge, The Greene Turtle Sports Bar & Grille, Team Store and VIDA Fitness and Bang Salon.
